

1      Abstract of the Disclosure

2            A two stroke cycle internal combustion engine machine that does not require 3        lubricating oil to be mixed with its fuel, producing greater efficiency, higher power to 4        weight ratio, cooler operating temperatures, a wider speed range, greater simplicity, and 5        lower toxic emissions, many of the improvements also transferable to four stroke 6        engines.
